The Pilgrims' first winter didn't offer much to be thankful for.

In the winter of 1620, a small town began to grow on the shores of Plymouth.

But as it grew, its population declined. More than half of the Pilgrims died, sometimes at the rate of two and three a day.

It was the toughest of winters. It was a season of starvation where the best meal that could be offered the sick was some codfish and spring water.

But our forefathers persevered. The following October, twenty acres of corn ripened beautifully, and the Pilgrims were partakers of plenty.

Because of a unique group of men and women who were committed to Plymouth back in 1620, we won't have to face that kind of winter in our lifetime.

The tradition of that special commitment is alive in the people today who have inherited Plymouth Colony. And it's alive at Plymouth Savings, Plymouth County's largest bank.

You might not be out to create a village in the wilderness, but you've probably got some pretty big things planned for your life. Plymouth Savings wants to work with you to make them all realities.

CHRISTMAS CRAFT EXHIBITION

With the Christmas gift giving season comes the usual search for the unusual and attractive gift. Nieman Marcus' catalogue may suffice for some. But we humbly suggest that the Christmas Craft Exhibition at the Marion Art Center holds surprises that even N.M. didn't think of! The show opened Friday, November 16, 6-7:30 and runs until December 2. Included are pottery, weaving, hand-wrought hardware reproductions, mittens and animals made of sheepskin, and designer clothing.

In Charlene's home workshop at 9 Clark Street the butterfly is evident everywhere, from handpainted buckles and appliques on vests, to the multi-colored trim on a jacket, which hangs on a larger-than-life butterfly mannequin! Their basic styling of vests, chinese jackets, skirts and flannel, chamois or cotton shirts is highlighted with unexpected touches of patterned linings and quilting, tra-punto and applique designs.

Her handcrafted stoneware lamps and plates are wheel thrown and hand painted. The plates are fired at high temperature so may be used as ovenware. She produces a handsome variety of designs, which are available through the National Audubon Society. She has had a one-man show at the Newport Art Association, and has exhibited in the American Crafts Council Show in Rhinebeck, New York. Her work is included in Good-fellows Review of Arts and Crafts, a nationwide publication.

The cunning creatures called "Mummers" are sheepskin animals designed and crafted by Sheila Mooney. And, for frigid fingers, she has made sheepskin mittens for adults. The surprise here is the elegant appliques on these warm, fuzzy mittens. Sheila washes, cards and spins the wool, which comes from Martha's Vineyard.

Most of the items in this show are for sale and all can be ordered. The Marion Art Center is open 1-5 Tuesday through Sunday, and admission is free.

Between November 16 and December 2 Mattapoisett and Rochester Girl Scouts and Brownies will be selling cookies. There are seven different kinds of cookies to select from, and as in the past the old favorite, the Thin Mint cookie, is back!

O.R.R. Parents

Adolescence and the teen years have always been a period in the life cycle marked by intense exploration and adjustment. In the process of leaving childhood behind and becoming adult, our young people often turn to other teenagers, the group, for their role models and examples.

The power of this Peer Pressure and the role it plays during the pre-adolescent and early adolescent years will be the topic discussed at the upcoming meeting of the ORR Parents' Organization on Wednesday, November 28th, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the ORR Junior High School cafeteria. All parents of junior and senior high students are invited to attend.

Participating with the parents will be Robert Iwaszko, Assistant Principal at the Junior High; Edward Jawor, Assistant Principal at the Senior High; and Bert Allain, Guidance Counselor at both schools. The meeting will provide an opportunity to ex-

Also to be discussed will be preparations for the Drug and Alcohol Abuse Forum to be held by the ORR Parents' Organization in January. All parents are encouraged to utilize the vehicle of the Parents' Organization to address any other issues or concerns which they may have, such as the advisability of a smoking area at the high school, school suspensions, truancy, late bus schedule, and the like.

Boston Children's Museum

Winter workshops at the Boston Children's Museum are packed with ideas for imaginative and economical holiday gifts and decorations.

"Celebrations" presents ideas gathered by museum staff from a variety of family and ethnic traditions; "Holiday Hoopla" shows participants how to use materials from the museum's Recycle shop to make holiday cards, children's toys, tree decorations and inexplicable gizmos for friends. "Measuring the Universe", another Recycle workshop, uses the industrial scraps to make clocks that drip, scales that stretch and other measuring devices.

"Celebrations" takes place Thursday, December 6, 4-6 p.m. or 7-9 p.m.; "Holiday Hoopla", Saturday, December 15, 10 a.m. - 12 noon or 1-3 p.m.; "Measuring the Universe", Saturday, January 19, 10 a.m. to 12 noon or 1 to 3 p.m.

All workshops are for adults and there is a fee. Pre-registration is required; call 426-6500, extension 206.

The sound of bagpipes will be heard at the Boston Children's Museum on Saturday, November 24th, when two members of Scotland's Black Watch regiment will be on hand to demonstrate the use of bagpipes and play holiday music.

Captain Willie Henderson and Lance Corporal Ward will be in the museum's Exhibit Center from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m.

Their appearance at the museum is a prelude to an appearance by the entire regiment of pipers, drummers and dancers at Boston Garden on December 1 and 2.

WRESTLING

Wrestling is one of the oldest forms of combat of which we have any record. Even before the historic era, we can be reasonably sure that the Stone Age man had developed a form of wrestling which bordered on the scientific. Stone Age man had to provide for himself by means of strength and cunning. Wrestling at that time was not only the primary type of warfare between men, but also extended to conflicts between men and beasts.

At the dawn of civilization, wrestling was an art of war. Though still of a savage nature among the Egyptians and Assyrians, it was yet a manly art. Scenes sculptured upon walls of temple-tombs along the Nile show a multitude of wrestling matches depicting practically all the holds and fall combinations known at the present time.

Many references are made to wrestling matches in the Bible. It was an ancient method used in settling disputes, and because of this practice, some knowledge of wrestling had to be possessed by any man who wished to retain his self-respect among his fellows.

This sport, in a systematic and scientific form, was probably introduced into Greece from Egypt or Asia and was spread throughout the world by the Romans.

Although it is one of our oldest sports, wrestling did not come into prominence as an amateur sport in the United States until the Twentieth Century. It is now a popular interscholastic and intercollegiate sport.

Owing to its rigorous nature, it not only provides a fine mental tonic toward development of an aggressive attitude, but it is unexcelled as a means of acquiring physical efficiency, coordination, poise and effective use of the body.

Competitiveness, physical toughness, determination, self-reliance, and initiative are developed. Significantly, boys of all sizes can compete, since competition is based on weight classes pitting similarly built boys against each other.

les are taught in sequences and combinations. The goal of a wrestler is to beat an opponent by executing these sequences and combinations, which are worth points, while deterring counterattacks by the opponent. A wrestler wins a match by accumulating points for the most successful techniques or by pinning the opponent's shoulders to the mat.

Wrestling is an excellent physical conditioner for other sports requiring aggression, strength, power and endurance, such as football. Wrestling, by its nature, pits man on man in an "all out" confrontation involving strategic moves under stress. Opponents are matched by weight class. Therefore, tenacity and perseverance frequently determine the outcome of a match.

Speed, poise, and technique often mean more than sheer, reckless strength in wrestling.

Wrestlers learn many skills which they must put into effective sequence during a match in order to accumulate more points than the opponent and/or pin him to the mat.

90% OF TRAFFIC LIGHTS WILL BE "NO TURN ON RED"

Massachusetts will allow a right turn at a red light as of January 1, 1980, but Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin issues a caution to motorists.

"Don't get the idea that right turns on red are going to be that all common in our state. Nearly 2,700 intersections - or about nine out of ten - will be posted 'No Turn On Red'", the Registrar said.

"Massachusetts is a densely populated urban state with millions of pedestrians. The primary law governing the operation of any vehicle is the operator must have it under control at all times, and pedestrians have the right of way.

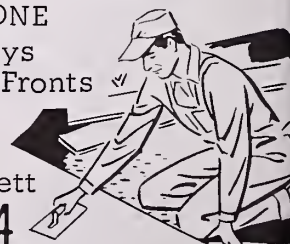

"At the few intersections where the right turn on red will be allowed, the operator must still treat it as a stop sign; that is, the vehicle must be brought to a complete

McLaughlin added, "Don't be the first to acquire a no fix ticket by either ignoring the "No Turn On Red" sign, or not stopping before making the turn. There is also a three year insurance surcharge imposed on those who run a red light."

McLaughlin also reminded motorists the new law does not go into effect in Massachusetts until January 1, although neighboring states already have it in force.

Among them were: electric stock ticker, telegraph systems, mimeograph, telephone transmitter, microphone, first electric railway for freight and passenger use, magnetic ore separator, fluorescent light, alkaline storage battery, rotary kilns for cement production, method for producing synthetic carboric acid, and electric safety lanterns for miners.

Photos of some of these inventions, as well as components of the light bulb and the first electric power systems, remind Museum visitors of Edison's contributions to modern life.

The exhibit is circulating nationally under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service. To remain through January, 1980, the exhibit is sponsored locally by the Museum and New England Electric System, New England Gas and Electric Companies, and Boston Edison Company.

The students, many of whom are married and with family responsibilities, first undergo concentrated class work in such subjects as anatomy, physiology, microbiology, sociology, psychology, and medical-surgical nursing. They are then assigned for clinical instruction in all phases of nursing at the area hospitals.

Tobey Hospital has nine students supplementing the nursing staff each week. Under the general tutelage of Mrs. Allen and Tobey's own nursing staff, they rotate throughout all the clinical areas of the hospital.
